Fire Destroys Lukin Home

Fire completely destroyed this old historic home in Pamplin on Friday afternoon. It was the Thornton family home and in later years, home of the late Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Lukin. Pamplin fire fighters answered the call about 2 p.m. and were joined later by units from Appomattox, Prince Edward county and Prospect. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Book, three daughters and a son, who were living in the home, lost most of their belongings. Firemen were hampered by lack of water and had to refill their tanks from a pond. For the past several years there has been a citizens' movement to establish a municipal water supply. The home, itself, was a splendid example of an "Adams" house. Built in 1858 by William David Thornton, a local merchant and banker, the home had arch windows and hand carved Adams shelves at the apex of the arch. A hand carved circular stairway of solid walnut led to the second floor. The owners, Miss Wilsie and Miss Mattie Thornton say that the house, if built today, would cost approximately $80,-000.

Jaycees To Make 3rd Request For Night Meeting

On Friday, January 14, 1972, the Appomattox County Jaycees will approach the Appomattox County Board of Supervisors to request that this body hold their regularly scheduled monthly meeting at night rather than during the morning hours. A majority of the members of the chapter contend that if the supervisors would hold their meetings at night it would enable more citizens to attend these meetings and become more involved in keynotes of the county.

The Jaycees have approached the Board two times in the past and the last time a petition was presented to the Board with over one thousand (1000) signatures attached to it in support of night meetings. This petition was presented to the Board in May of 1971 at which time the Board took this matter under advisement. To date, the Jaycees have received no further word from the Board.

It has been the practice of the Board of Supervisors to set the meeting dates and times for the new year at their January meeting. The Jaycees hope that the supervisors will consider this matter at their meeting Friday.

Squad Calls Include Three New Babies

The score was three for three as Appomatox County Rescue Squad rounded out the year with 44 calls during December and 2,360 miles traveled. Man hours used: 181 1/2.

That "three for three" score is the number of Maternity cases and the fact that three babies were delivered by Squad members before the mother arrived at the hospital.

Squad president, Ray Noble, says that this may be a state record for the month and it will be a part of a report for the State Rescue Squad magazine VAR.

The Squad's very busy month in December included a dinner given in their honor by the Joanna Maiden Circle of Liberty Baptist Church, and a story of fast work involving several emergencies.

Bill Noble, 15, and a sophomore at Appomattox County High School, had occasion recently to use his knowledge of Squad personnel. He was handling radio base station for the crewe on New Year's eve in the absence of his father, Squad president Ray, who was out on a call. Another emergency arose, and Bill dispatched a second crew.

Then on his own, he called a third crew to be on standby until the other two crews returned to the Squad building. Virginia State Police also helped during this emergency and are given continuing credit and thanks by the Squad for assistance when needed.

The 44 calls for assistance during December include 11 heart attacks, one burn, one food poisoning, one kidney stone, two gunshot wounds, three strokes, two transports by doctor's request, one fire standby, four automobile wrecks, two flu, three obstetrical, one internal bleeding, one false alarm, one broken bone, four drug overdose one D. O. A., one relay case and four miscellaneous.

The Rescue Squad does want to emphasize one fact, that squad is available at all times for rescue and emergency work; however, for the sake of a new mother and baby and all concerned that plans should be made well in advance of the birth of a child for arrival at a hospital through private transportation.

LIONS TO HEAR V. O. MIMS

V. O. Mims, superintendent of Pumping Station 170, Transcontinental Gas Pipeline Corporation, will be the speaker Thursday night in the first meeting of the New Year for Appomattox Lions. Meeting time: 6:45 a.m. Subject: Operation of the pipeline and related information.

Concord Squad Reports 25 Calls For December

During the month of December 1971, the Concord Rescue Squad answered 25 emergency calls, expending 99 man hours and traveling 781 miles. A breakdown of the calls is as follows: auto accidents, 5; possible heart attacks, 4; falls, 3; transports, 2; breathing difficulty, 2; sudden unknown illness, 2; burns, 1; maternity, 1; stand-by at truck fire, 1; and one pedestrian stuck by car.

The turkey shoot held on December 18th was very successful. All proceeds from this project will go toward the purchase of additional equipment for the Concord ambulance.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Concord Rescue Squad has donated $150.00 to the squad to purchase an orthopedic stretcher.

Eight squad members have purchased two-way radios and these will be in service before the end of January.

Since the beginning of operations on July 1, 1971, the Concord Rescue Squad has responded to 146 calls.

National Park Records 240,000 Visits

Increase Noted In Tourism

Over 240,000 visits were recorded at Appomattox Court House National Historical Park during 1971. Approximately 85,000 persons visited Lee's Headquarters, Grant's Headquarters and the Confederate Cemetery. Approximately 155,000 persons toured the restored village (compared to 148,000 in 1970) making 1971 the second biggest year for village visitation. The highest village visitation, 156,300 occurred in 1961, the first year of the Civil War Centennial. In 1965, the Centennial Year for Appomattox, 148,800 persons visited the village.

Last year was the first year that visitors were counted at Lee's Headquarters, Grant's Headquarters and the Confederate Cemetery. "In the past, said Park Superintendent Alec Gould, "we had assumed that persons visiting these areas would also enter the village, but surveys showed that this was not the case. A visitor, for example, who hiked the trail at Lee's Headquarters and didnot go to the village was counted last year. Another family who visited both Lee's Headquarters and the village was counted only once." Road counter and periodic surveys to determine reduction factors for persons visiting more than one area are used in the visitor count system.

Park personnel feel that visitation is increasing at Appomattox for several reasons. The name Appomattox has great meaning for many Americans and they go out of their way to come here. Most visitors are taken by the authentic restoration, the real significance of the end of the Civil War and the friendliness of the people in and around the Park.

Treasurer Takes Office

Mrs. Ida Belle (Clyde) Campbell (right) is the new treasurer of Appomattox county with Mrs. Marian (Frank) Williamson (left) as deputy treasurer. Mrs. Campbell, winner of the November county election, succeeds J. Garland Plunkett. The first few days of office have been quite busy says Mrs. Campbell with requests for dog tags, purchase and renewal of mobile home licenses and other matters involved in learning the routine of the office. Mrs. Campbell was deputy Commissioner of the Revenue until her election and had served nineteen years in the Commissioner of the Revenue's office. Mrs. Williamson is a former employee of Appomattox Garment Company, employed there five years in the shipping department and when that type of work was phased out, she worked in the computer division.

Company Sets Up NewOffice

McGrath Construction Company has set up offices in the Doctors' Building, Court Street, Appomattox next to the U. S. Post Office.

W. M. McGrath, III (Bill), owner and manager, has moved his headquarters here from Lynchburg and has also set up an office in South Boston for sales of "componentized homes." McGrath has several homes under construction in the area and has completed homes here also. He represents National Homes, offering more than 15 styles with 1,000 square feet of living space or more.

Each home is constructed of pre-finished sections erected by crane on a site. Home building, explains McGrath, thus becomes a matter of days rather than months.

His new location in Appomattox will give customers added convenience, he says. His office staff includes Mrs. Kristy Gould, secretary and Mrs. Renee' McGrath, bookkeeper. Telephone number is 352-8257.

McGrath is an area resident of many years and one of the organizers of Tri-County Builders in Appomattox which later became McGrath Construction Co.

The sales force includes Twyman Coleman, Appomattox; Dale Thompson, Farmville and Bobby Baldwin, Charlotte Court House.

The work crew for McGrath includes Johnny Ranson, Dillwyn, foreman; John C. Harris, chief assistant; Rice Seay, Bernard Whorley, Carlton Whorley, Ben Peaks and Wiley Woodfin.

National Homes, designed and priced to meet low cost and moderate cost housing are manufactured in Martinsville and are "quality controlled", says McGrath and inspected by government lending institutions.

Tax Return Booklet On Sale

A booklet that gives information on how to fill out Federal tax returns, is on sale now at the Appomattox Post Office, according to Postmaster H. W. Conner.

"Your Federal Income Tax" was written by the Internal Revenue Service and contains many examples to illustrate how the tax law applies to actual situations. A special feature of the booklet is the sample, filled-in-return, Form 1040, keyed to pages where explanations can be found for each entry on the return.

The 160-page booklet costs 75 cents a copy.

"By selling this booklet at postal facilities, we are offering a convenient service to our customers. We are participating in a nationwide program to make the tax booklet available to the public in 15,000 postal facilities," says Conner.

Rat-O-Gram

THE RODENT PROBLEM

Did you know that there is a mob of thieves operating in Appomattox County. Each member of this mob steals as much as $25 a year from every family in Appomattox, and there are thousands of mobsters. They steal our food, damage our homes and possessions, and are capable of murder. The mob, of course, is RATS. The rats in our community eat or contaminant our food, maw on our property, sometimes causing fires, and are capable of spreading disease to livestock and man. The worst thing about the rat mob is its insidious nature. Quite often we are not aware of their numbers or even their presence but they are there, on our farms and in our communities. In every day of their life, they are busy stealing our hard earned possessions from us. Quite often we think of rats as somebody else's problem.
